C. BRIEF NOTE ON THE DISTRICT LUCKNOW

Lucknow is The state headquarter of Uttar Pradesh. It has always been a seat of art, literature, culture and learning. In ancient times, it formed a part of Kaushal Kingdom and later on, it was annexed to Avadh state. Various legends have been associated with the origin of the name Lucknow. It is said that the city was named after the name of Lakshman, the younger brother of Lord Rama. In the north-west of the city, near the Harding's bridge there still exists a mound on the right bank of the river Gomati which is called Lakshman tila. It is traditionally accepted, though no such recorded evidence is however, available supporting this theory. Some of the scholars are of the opinion that the city was named after a milk man (Ahir) named Lakhana, who became rich as a result of the spiritual blessing of a Muslim saint.

There are no historical records corroborating above theories. It is one of the oldest city of India. Before 2001 census it has been the capital town of Uttar Pradesh & Uttranchal both. It is said that its original name was Lakshmanpuri then Lakhanpur and Lakhanawati, before assuming the present name as Lucknow

The capital was shifted from Faizabad to Lucknow in 1755 which contributed to its significant growth. The most important outcome of Asif-ud-daula's reign at Lucknow was the emergence of a powerful shia culture which is still in constant interaction with the shia heart lands of Iran and Iraq. Asaf-ud-daula was also a great builder. He built the 'Daulat Khana' as a residence for himself to that west of Macchi Bhawan, the Rumi Darvaza and the incomparable Bara Imambara. The construction of famous Chhota Imambara was started in the period of Muhammad Ali Shah. Amjad Ali Shah's eldest son, Wazid Ali Sah, who was eventually destined to be the last ruler of Avadh, ascended to the throne of Avadh in 1847. Wazid Ali Shah was a great patron of singers, musicians, dancers and artists. He was also greatly interested in architecture. He started building the Qaiserbagh palace complex. Wazid Ali shah was a weak king and unable to face the threat passed by British. Consequently the British speeded up their efforts to take Avadh in their grip. Colonel Sleeman was appointed as Resident in 1849 and was authorised by Lord Dollhouzie to tour entire Avadh and report the general condition of the people. Afterwards General Outram was sent to Lucknow as officiating Resident in December, 1854 and was directed to submit a report on the affair of Avadh. The king of Avadh refused to sign the treaty with the British for surrendering his kingdom to the East India Company. The king himself resigned and there after passed his life in exile as pensioner of the company. Major Outram took the charge of administration of Avadh on 7th February, 1856. Thus, the Avadh came under the rule of East India Company. The last king of Avadh left Avadh for Calcutta on 14th of March, 1856 and died there in 1887.

Lucknow has been the main centre of activities relating to first mutiny for freedom of India in 1857. On 17th January, 1857 Maulvi Ahmad Ullah Shah, who was also known as Sikandar Shah came to Lucknow after being expelled from Agra. There he preached people to fight against the British rule. Battles were fought at Malihabad, Lucknow, Chinhat and Alambagh against the British forces. The forces of Avadh fought the battle under the leadership of Begum Hazarat Mahal and the forces of Rajas and Nawabs revolted not only in Lucknow but at other places as well. Prominent places among them were Kanpur, Bithur, Kalpi, Jhansi, Gwalior, Meerut and Delhi. After this revolt, the control of the East India Company came to an end and the British crown assumed the charge of Indian Government. After the first meeting for freedom in 1857, many other important events had also taken place in Lucknow. For instance, the session of Indian National Congress was held in Lucknow in 1899 with R. C. Dutt as the president of the Congress and later on, in 1916 as well, Lucknow was venue of the session of Indian National Congress and Muslim League. The leader of both the parties sorted out their difference and chalked out a common programme for political reforms. This is prominently known as the Lucknow pact. During the Non-cooperation movement of 1920-21 the people of Avadh took active part by organising boycott of foreign goods, picketing of liquor shops and boycotting of schools and colleges. Mahatma Gandhi himself visited Lucknow city on 20th October, 1920. Among the main political figures prominent in these days were Ganga Prasad Verma, A.P. Sen, Rai Rajeshwar Bali, Jagat Narain and others. On 9th August, 1925 the famous Kakori Train Dacoity (known as 'Kakori case') took place. At Kakori Railway station some persons belonging to Revolutionary party stopped the 8-Down Moradabad-Lucknow passenger train by pulling the alarm chain and forcibly took away a sum of Rs. 4,67,916 from the Guard's compartment. Ram Prasad Bismil, Roshan Singh, Rajendra Nath Lahri, Ashfaqullah Khan, Sachindra Nath Bakshi and Jagesh Chatterje were prominent leaders of the Revolutionary party. In fact, these revolutionaries wanted to make India free from the British slavery by any means whether non-violent or violent. The 49th session of the India National Congress was held at Lucknow in 1936 under the president ship of Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru. People of Lucknow participated in Quit India Movement in 1942 on large scale. Thus Lucknow has been the main centre of political activities during India's freedom struggle. It is also known for social and cultural harmony religious tolerance and Hindu –Muslim unity and above all its ' Ganga- jamuni tehjeeb'.

Socio-economic cultural peculiarities of district lucknow

Lucknow represents peculiar North Indian society, with its roots in the agricultural economy of the indo gangetic plain, is essentially patriarchal and structured on caste hierarchy of jatis interacting within the jajmani System.

Since Lucknow is fast developing metropolitan city of UP, it attracts people from across the county and we can see cultural heritage of different places like 'Chatt Puja Of Bihar', traditions of Oriya Samaj, Punjabi Samaj, Malayali Samaj, Maharashtra Samaj and Bengali like Rath yatra, Lohri, Onam, Ganpati puja and Durga Puja are celebrated here with great fan and fare in communities publically.

Infrastructure

Ranked 6th among all the cities in India (2nd among non metro) for fastest job-creation Lucknow is not only a major market & trading city in Northern India, but is also an emerging hub for producers of goods and services. Being the capital of Uttar Pradesh state, the Government departments and the public sector undertakings are the principal employers of the salaried middle class. Liberalization has created many more opportunities in the business and service sector and self-employed professionals are burgeoning in the city.

Lucknow also provides a good catchment area for the recruitment of quality personnel by information technology companies for the BPO. The city is the headquarters of both the Small Industries Development Bank of India (SIDBI) and the Pradeshiya Industrial and Investment Corporation of Uttar Pradesh (PICUP). The Regional office of the Uttar Pradesh State Industries Development Corporation (UPSIDC) is also located here. The other business-promoting institutions that have a presence in Lucknow are the Confederation of Indian Industry (CII) and Entrepreneurship Development Institute of India (EDII). It is also being developed as IT hub of north india.

Manufacturing and Processing

Among the bigger manufacturing units, Lucknow has Hindustan Aeronautics Limited, Tata Motors, Eveready Industries and Scooters India Limited. Processing industries include milk production, steel-rolling units and LPG bottling. The Sahara India Parivar, a large house of India is headquartered in Lucknow.

Lucknow is also famous for Indian Hukha Tobacco Paste or Khamira in local language, manufacturer's exporter of Hukha Tobacco. The city's small-scale and medium-scale industrial units are located in the industrial enclaves of Chinhat, Aishbagh, Talkatora and Amausi.

Real estate

Real estate is one of the many booming sectors of the economy. There are several malls, residential complexes and business complexes throughout the city. Real estate giants like Parshvanath, DLF, Omaxe, Sahara, Unitech, Ansal API, Emaar MGF are conspicuous by their presence.

Prominent under-construction buildings include the Signature Tower, Golf City which will have 65 floors, Sahara Hospital, which will have 30 floors, followed by Metro City, Parshvanath Planet and Omaxe Heights all have 25 floors.

Traditional Trade

Traditionally, Lucknow has been a mandi town for mangoes, melons, and grains grown in the surrounding areas. Sugarcane-growing plantations and sugar industries are also in close proximity. This attracted Edward Dyer to set up a unit based on molasses in the city. Dyer Breweries was incorporated in 1855 and was Asia's first commercial brewery. The company name was changed to Mohan Meakin Brewery in 1967 (the word "Breweries" was dropped in the eighties as the company diversified into other industries).

Lucknow is famous for its small scale industries that are based on unique styles of embroidery, namely, Chikan and Lakhnawi Zardozi, both of which are significant foreign exchange earners. Chikan has caught the fancy of fashion designers in Bollywood and abroad.

During the period of the Nawabs, kite-making reached a high level of artistry, and is still a small-scale industry. Lucknow has also been an industrial producer of tobacco products like 'Kivam', edible fragrances like 'attars' and handicrafts such as pottery, earthen toys, silver and gold foil work, and bone carving products.

Emerging businesses

Lucknow, with its excellent education, commercial, banking and legal infrastructure, is witnessing rapid growth in information technology, banking, retailing, construction and other service sectors. Private coaching institutions for preparing aspirants of competitive exams and services are another business that is flourishing in Lucknow.

Lucknow houses hundreds of established real estate brands and dozens of niche and specialised developers like high-end premium residential projects, malls, IT parks, commercial property, SEZs, plots, business centres, multiplexes, clubs, banks, food courts, entertainment centres and finance institutions. Reserve Bank of India (RBI) and foreign banks like Citibank, Standard Chartered Bank, ABN-AMRO, RBS and HSBC have their presence in the city. The big oil marketing companies like Indian Oil Corporation, Hindustan Petroleum, Bharat Petroleum, and Reliance have their offices in Lucknow.

Reserve Bank of India, Lucknow –

Leading IT companies like TCS operate in Lucknow. The Ministry of Communications and Information Technology set up Software Technology Parks of India in 2001 which is playing an important role to promote IT/ITes Units in the region. Even Tata Motors, world's leading automotive brand has its manufacturing plant in Chinhut, Lucknow. Currently, biotechnology and information technology are the two focus areas to promote economic development in and around the city. The Ministry of Science and Technology has setup a biotech park in the city. Lucknow is also one of the selected cities for the Smart City project, under which IT is being used to promote economic development.

Roads

The roads of Lucknow (Gomti Nagar in picture)

Four Indian National Highways originate at Lucknow's Hazratganj intersection: NH-24 to Delhi, NH-24B to Allahabad, NH-25 to Shivpuri via Jhansi, NH-56 to Varanasi and NH-28 to Barauni. Multiple modes of public transport are available such as taxis, city buses, cycle rickshaws, auto rickshaws and compressed natural gas \(CNG\) low floor buses with and without air conditioning. CNG was introduced as an auto fuel to keep air pollution under control. Radio Taxis are operated by two major companies along with several other small operators. They can be arranged by phone or at taxi stands. Many other private players such as Ola cabs have also their presence in the city.

City buses

Lucknow city's bus service is operated by Uttar Pradesh State Road Transport Corporation (UPSRTC), a public sector passenger road transport corporation headquartered in MG road. It has 300 CNG buses operating in the city out of an overall fleet of 9,500. There are around 35 routes in the city. Terminals for city buses are located in Gudamba, Virajkhand, Alambagh, Scooter India, Institute of Engineering and Technology, Babu Banarasi Das University, Safedabad, Pasi qila, Charbagh, Andhe Ki Chowki, and the Budheshwar Intersection. There are four bus depots in Gomti Nagar, Charbagh, Amausi, and Dubagga.

Cycling

Lucknow is among the most bicycle-friendly cities in Uttar Pradesh. Cycle-friendly tracks have been established near the Chief Minister's residence in the city. The four-and-a-half-kilometre track encompasses La-Martiniere College Road next to Golf Club on Kalidas Marg, where the Chief Minister resides, and Vikramaditya Marg, which houses the office of the ruling party. The dedicated four-metre-wide lane for cyclists is separate from the footpath and the main road. With Amsterdam as the inspiration, new cycle tracks are to be constructed in the city to make it more cycle-friendly, with facilities like bike rental also in the works. In the year 2015, Lucknow also hosted a national level cycling event called 'The Lucknow Cyclothon' in which professional and amateur cyclists took part. An under-construction cycle track network by the Government Of Uttar Pradesh is set to make Lucknow, the city with India's biggest cycle track network.

General law and Order of the District Lucknow

By and large district Lucknow is peaceful. There is no major law & order issues in Lucknow. But Being the State capital sometimes enforcement of Model Code of Conduct put forth challenge. The District Administration and police are trying its best to enforce Model Code of Conduct by deploying as many teams as required in every constituency. The District administration has also geared itself to monitor the expenditures of the candidates and Political parties and is maintaining Shadow Registers; Folder of Evidence etc as per the directions of the Election Commission of India

District has total number of 42 police stations, 15 circles and 9 SP for areas like Gramin/East/Pashim/TG from election point of view and there are total 9 assembly constituencies. As per the directions of election commission one flying squad for each assembly constituency and one static team for each police Thana are being constituted.
